It is also extremely important for independent student travelers and students participating in non-IU programs to have adequate insurance before departing. This coverage should also include medical evacuation, repatriation of remains and life insurance. If you are currently included on your family's insurance policy, you must make sure that the coverage is valid overseas for the duration of your travel. Students with an International Student Identity Card (see <http://www.istc.org>) may receive basic medical/accident insurance coverage for their travel outside the continental United States, for the period that the ID card is valid. These ID cards are available at STAtavel, for instance. Because such coverage may not be adequate to meet every contingency, you should check to see what additional protection you might need. Participants in IU-administered overseas study programs may already be enrolled in a group health insurance plan.
